

ABSTRACT

The invention provides an in-line leak tester apparatus for detecting leaks in packages having a flexible cover such as contact lens packages. The 5 flexible covers move in contact with an electromechanical switch when the atmospheric pressure surrounding the package is lowered.